Cover: The Concord Gun House is a familiar sight at the intersection of Lexington Road and the Cambridge Turnpike near Concord center. Modeled on an original gun house of 1800 by Concord architect Andrew Hepburn, this colonial-style building was paid for by public subscription and ceremonially presented to the Town on the 19th of April 1961. The Town keeps its two 19th century bronze saluting cannons here, where they are maintained by the Concord Independent Battery Association. Founded in 1804, the “Battery” parades and fires these historic guns on Patriots Day and other ceremonial occasions. (www.concorderbattery.org)
