West Concord Historic Resources Survey Plan
Priority Two Survey Resources to be considered for National Register Designation in the Future.

Commonwealth Avenue

Boundaries: Commonwealth Avenue from the bridge north to the railroad crossing.
Number of Properties: 41

This area contains single family and double homes, many built by Ralph Warner, a landowner and owner of the nearby pail factory, to house workers for his business and later for State Reformatory staff. The area is potentially eligible for listing in the State and National Registers, and should be locally designated.

Highland Street

Boundaries: Highland Street as defined by Massachusetts Historical Commission's Area DB streetscape survey form (1988).
Number of Properties: 22

Highland Street is an excellent example of an early residential subdivision. Part of a 10-acre subdivision divided into 43 house lots by the Concord Junction Land Co. in 1896-1897. The street's resources retain a high degree of architectural integrity and are an excellent collection of middle-class single family residences, double houses, and small early 20th century dwellings. It contains several excellent local examples of the Four Square form. The area is potentially eligible for listing in the State and National Registers, and should be locally designated.

Riverside Park

Boundaries: Assabet Avenue, Grove Street and Barrett's Mill Road from the rotary to Wright Farm.
Number of Properties: 46

Built by a group of investors for employees at the State Reformatory, Riverside Park is an excellent example of an early residential subdivision. The Park's development was short and its period of significance is 1892-1910. Resources retain a high degree of architectural integrity. The area is potentially eligible for listing in the State and National Registers, and should be locally designated.

Westvale/Damondale

Boundaries: Main Street as defined by Massachusetts Historical Commission's Area D survey form (1988).
Number of Properties: 61

The Damon Mill in Westvale was a significant force in the development of Westvale from 1834-1898. The village that grew up around the mill and its water source is a largely intact 19th century village. The village includes numerous early 19th century homes, some with attached barns, and worker's cottages. Although there have been two large intrusions into the area with the Winslow Street subdivision in 1973 and the construction of the office condominiums at 1732 Main Street in 1999, the area is potentially eligible for listing in the State and National Registers, and should be locally designated.
